COURSE OVERVIEW

Important This course is scheduled to release on 12/04/2026. Build a practical foundation for managing usage-based AI consumption in Microsoft 365. Learn how Copilot Credits and billing options work, what drives consumption, and how IT and business leaders can control spend, measure value, and optimize impact. Explore the roles, guardrails, and review practices needed to confidently start small and scale based on evidence. This conceptual course prepares you to make key adoption decisions before moving into role-based configuration and hands-on training. Learning objectives: Explain Microsoft 365 usage-based billing and Copilot Credits. Identify ways to control spend and monitor consumption. Connect AI costs to business outcomes. Define decision rights, guardrails, and a review rhythm. Use evidence to decide what to expand, adjust, or stop.

WHO THIS COURSE IS FOR

- This course is designed for IT decision-makers, administrators, and business leaders who share responsibility for adopting and managing usage-based AI services in Microsoft 365. It is appropriate for learners who need to understand consumption, costs, controls, and value before making adoption decisions, with no configuration experience required.
